

C-Corsair

Concept JDK | Sep 21
www.jdkatanga.com

4-seat space muscle
interceptor

CONSTELLEANOR

I was looking for a mean, 'Crimson Skies'-inspired, muscle interceptor. Toying with the contrast of trans-red bulging eyes and light bluish grey. Keen on the retro vibe of old WWII fighters but with a sci-fi reshuffle. Over the top arsenal (including rear guns), cut for dogfights. Two sets of wings.

"It's a fascinating piece of work and honestly probably one of the most creative I've seen in a long time."

Michael J. C. Rowley, editor.

This is a work of various fictions, science- and non-. It does not follow all the rules of creative writing, it breaches narration codes, it subverts words, it may even subvert you. Please read at your own peril.

A Beast controlling human energies.

A heretic ship.

The forbidden doors of the universe opening as a new cycle begins.

It isn't just about good and evil or light and darkness. It is all about structure and life forces and their immutable fight in sentient history. And how they fashion the human past and future.

www.Constellleanor.com

Cover art by Rafael Andres

ISBN 9781916335424

9 781916 335424

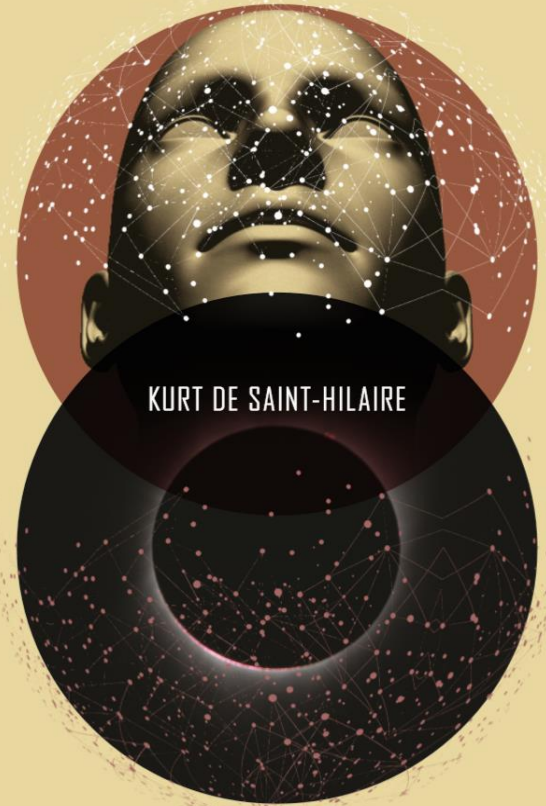

KURT DE
SAINT-HILAIRE

C
H
R
O
N
I
C L
E
S

CONSTELLEANOR

KURT DE SAINT-HILAIRE

C H R O N I C L E S

Background story Constelleanor was self-published in March 2020. JDK works with its author Kurt on designing vehicles that inspire both of them.